

Private Alternative Education Loans

Your 2018-19 financial aid awards already includes the maximum amount of Federal Direct Loan funding you are eligible to receive for the 2018-19 award year.

Another loan option may be a private alternative education loan. The loan must be applied for in the students name, but most students are required to have a “credit worthy” co-signer to obtain approval. Upon submitting your loan application online, the system will tell you if you are approved without a co-signer or if a co-signer is necessary for further consideration.

Below are lenders William Peace University is familiar with for private alternative education loans. However, this does not mean you cannot attempt to obtain approval through a lender not listed if you desire. Please review all of the lenders websites before applying. It is recommended that you apply only once. Each time an application is processed your credit score is affected.
